DEDICATION

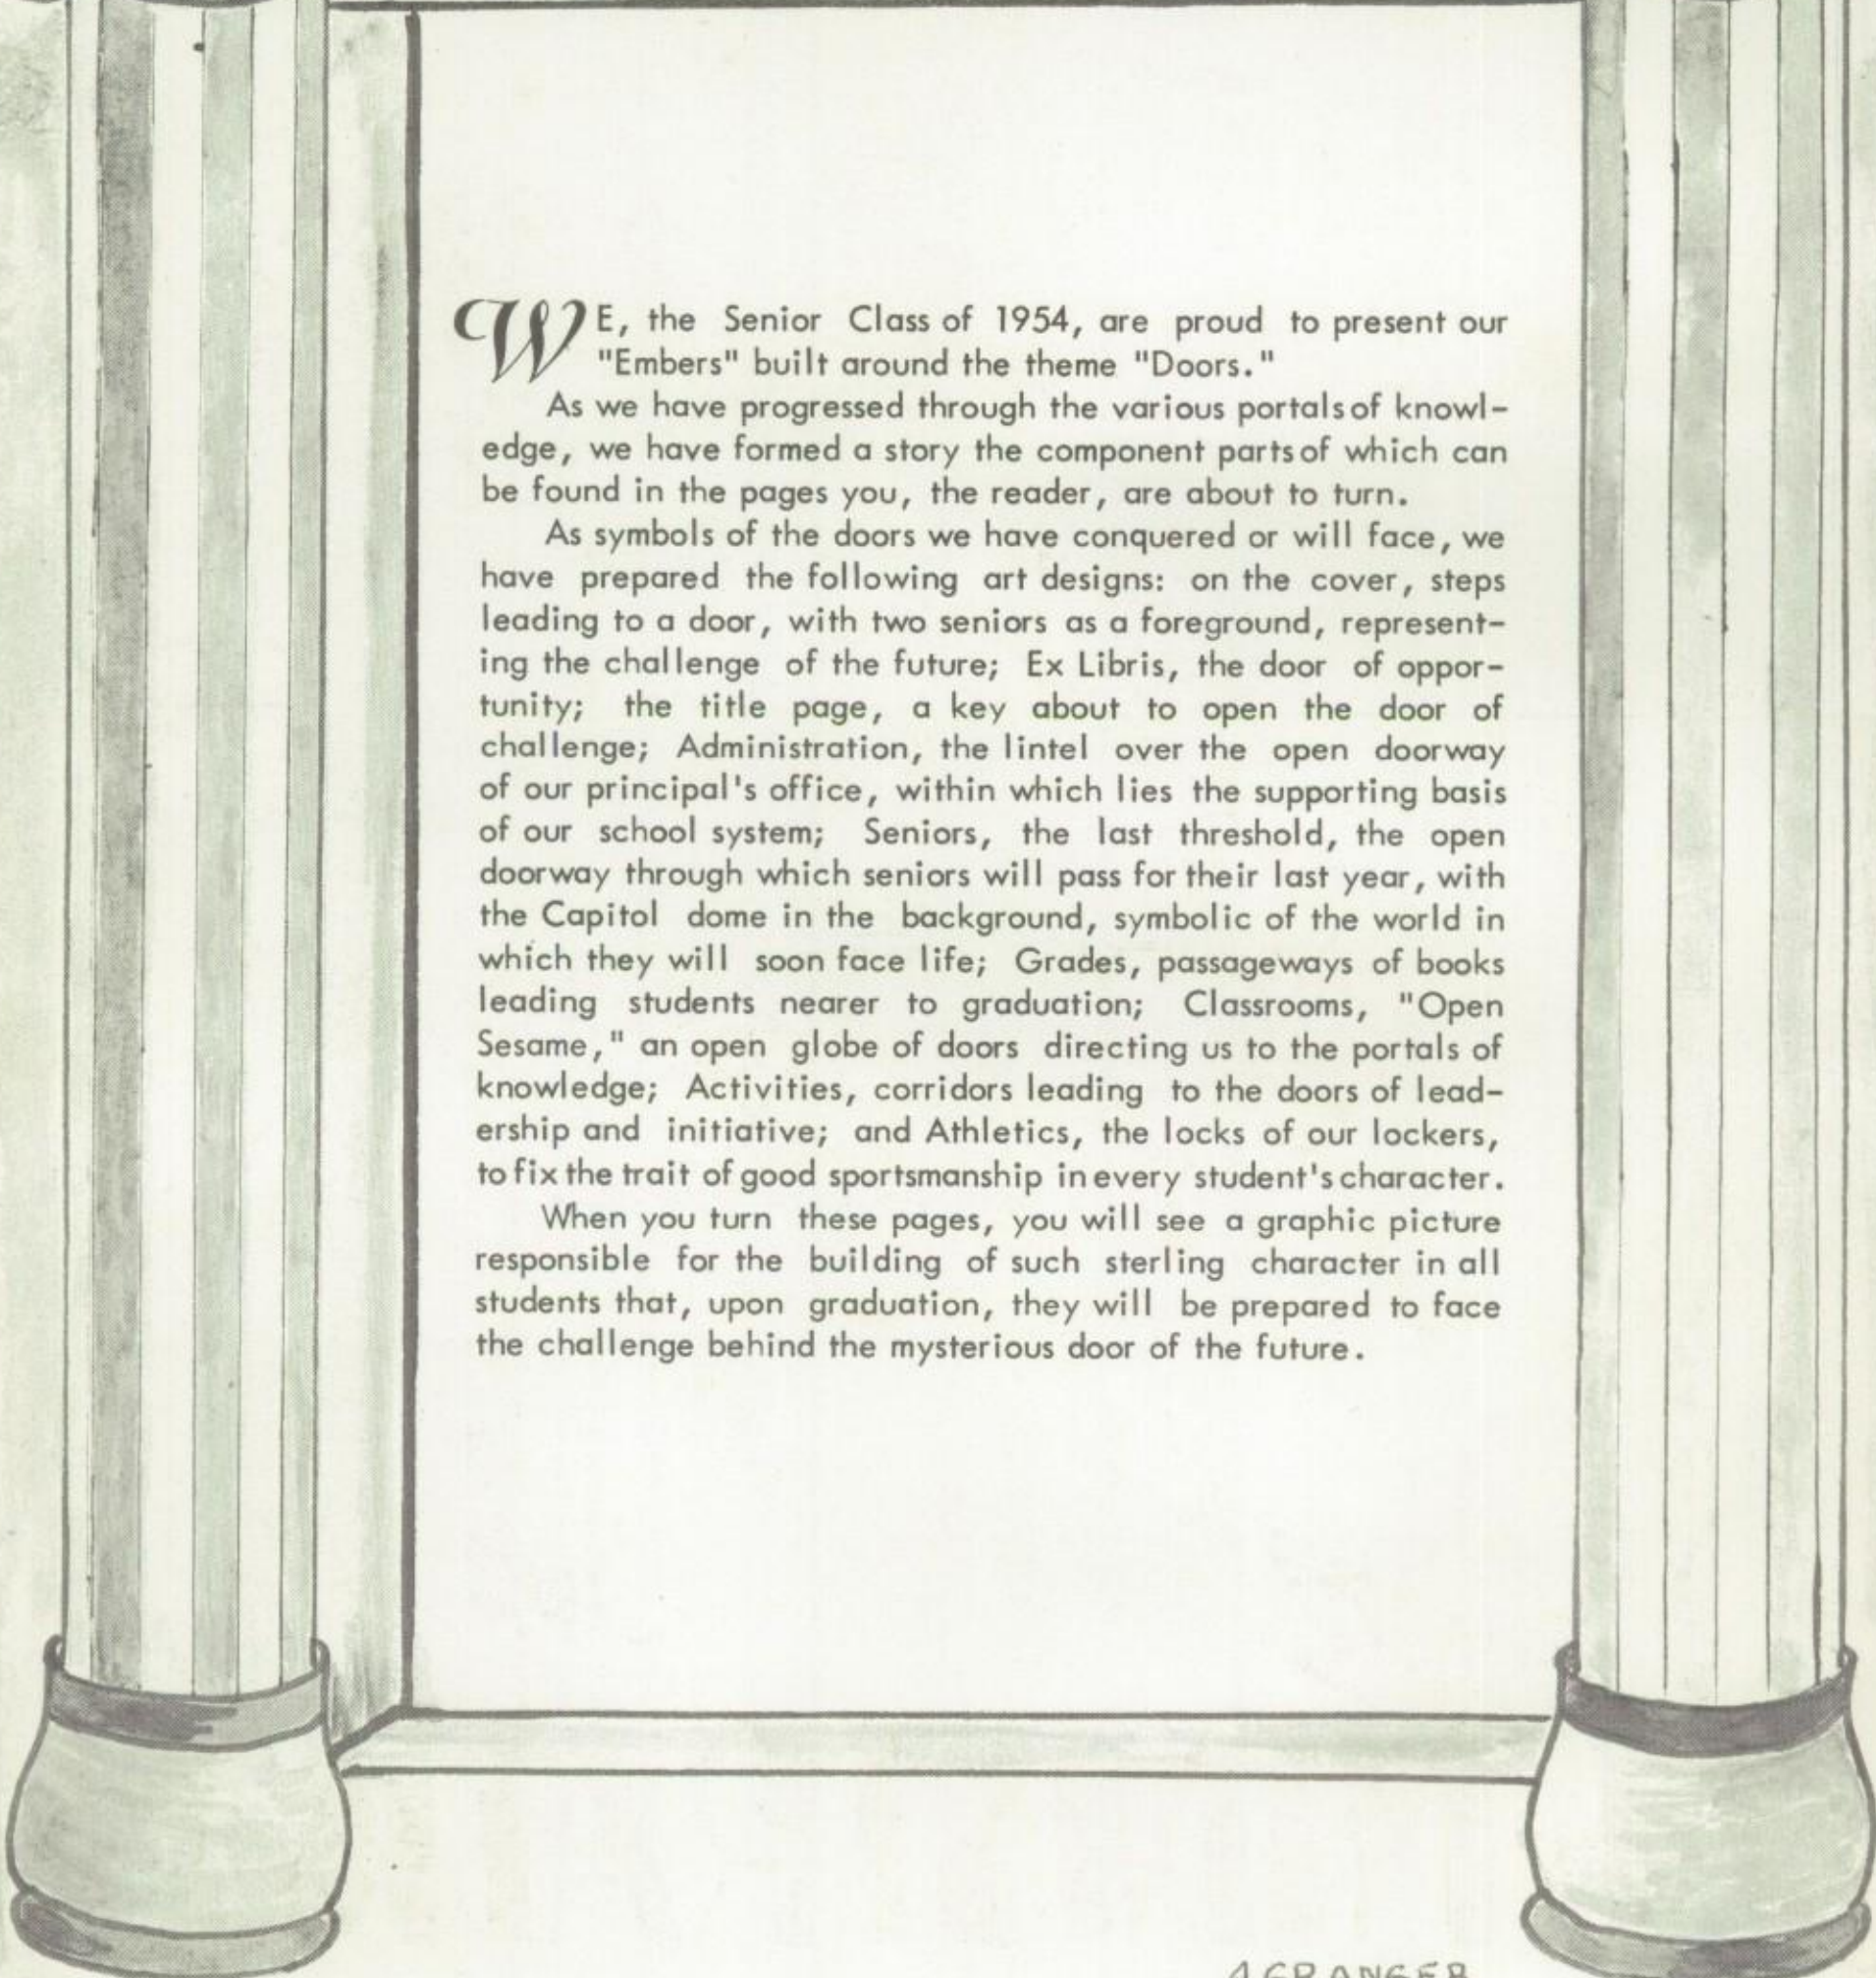

MR. DONALD ROBB

*I*N all sincerity and moved by a humble desire to show our appreciation for your zealous efforts in our behalf and in behalf of our ALMA MATER, we the seniors of 1954, dedicate this yearbook to you, Mr. Robb. Our respect and admiration for you as a teacher and as a person are a constant encouragement to us, as we prepare to meet the challenge that lies behind each closed door of the future.

FOREWORD

As we have progressed through the various portals of knowledge, we have formed a story the component parts of which can be found in the pages you, the reader, are about to turn.

As symbols of the doors we have conquered or will face, we have prepared the following art designs: on the cover, steps leading to a door, with two seniors as a foreground, representing the challenge of the future; Ex Libris, the door of opportunity; the title page, a key about to open the door of challenge; Administration, the lintel over the open doorway of our principal's office, within which lies the supporting basis of our school system; Seniors, the last threshold, the open doorway through which seniors will pass for their last year, with the Capitol dome in the background, symbolic of the world in which they will soon face life; Grades, passageways of books leading students nearer to graduation; Classrooms, "Open Sesame," an open globe of doors directing us to the portals of knowledge; Activities, corridors leading to the doors of leadership and initiative; and Athletics, the locks of our lockers, to fix the trait of good sportsmanship in every student's character.

When you turn these pages, you will see a graphic picture responsible for the building of such sterling character in all students that, upon graduation, they will be prepared to face the challenge behind the mysterious door of the future.

The Administration of our school supports our educational system in the same manner that the lintel of a door supports the structure above it.

ADMINISTRATION

BOARD OF EDUCATION

*A*S we, the Seniors of 1954, look through the portals of our past, we see the many advantages given to us by the Board of Education.

Each year of our journey through school, we met a new door harder to open, and with a new goal for which to strive. Each door led us closer to the final goal, graduation from our Alma Mater. With the guidance of the Board of Education, we were able to pass through these doors with ease and are now nearer that goal.

Their cooperation in class functions has enabled us to obtain funds for the "Embers" and our greatest thrill, the Washington trip. Fish Dinners and Class Movies are also dependent upon their cooperation. Their decision to provide annual Christmas and Halloween parties has given us much enjoyment. With the Board's consent we were able to take numerous trips to see such movies as "Ivanhoe" and "The Robe".

The Board of Education has provided free swinging doors that have allowed us to pass freely and proudly into the future. With sincere thought, we wish to thank the Board for all they have done.

PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

MEMBERS OF THE P.T.A. ON PARENTS' NIGHT

THE Parent Teachers' Association of Eden Central has been very successful in promoting greater understanding between the faculty and parents. Their monthly meetings have assisted very much in solving problems concerning our welfare and the welfare of our school. Discussions have been held on certain school and social subjects in which students sometimes participate, giving their opinions on the subject. Held once or twice a year is an Open House where parents have the chance to confer individually with teachers concerning their children's work at school. Cooperation is increased by this because parents and teachers reach a greater understanding about the student's progress.

This year, the Parent Teachers' Association has aided the seniors in raising money by a Parcel Post sale. Its success has been of great advantage to us and we wish to give those understanding parents and teachers our sincere gratitude.

By its activities and encouragement, the P.T.A. has become a golden key which opens the heavy door to a successful future for each student.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

I UNDERSTAND that the theme of the 1954 Eden Central School senior Yearbook is "Doors." This topic brings to my mind a sermon that I once heard given by an eminent clergyman. It was entitled, "The Challenge of the Open Door." This speaker pointed out that life is like a large castle to be explored.

Upon graduation, Doors will open for you into new rooms of achievement. In fact, you will find that entering upon the tasks of each new day is like opening the Door into an unexplored room. If you open these doors fearlessly, life will hold great adventures for you.

ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

THIS Class of 1954 has already opened many doors to success, but I hope you keep it ever in mind that you are at the point in your lives where it will be your sole responsibility to open many of the doors in your future. I believe this class will accept all challenges that every graduate must face. Remember, the doorway to opportunity is always open to those who have the ambition to knock on it.

When you leave in June, your paths will lead to many, varied doors and pathways. My fondest wish for each of you is that you will help unlock doors and barriers of intolerance, hate and prejudice, thus making ours a better world in which to live. At this time it might be fitting to pause and give thanks that you live in a country where doorways are always open and you aren't hemmed in by iron curtains.

THE child of today is the Youth of tomorrow. The grade school faculty is moulding the character of these youths, now in the process of maturing, preparing them for the doors leading to the responsibilities of high school. Throughout the year they are unfolding before the students new knowledge and laying the basis of truth and honor.

Their personal interest in each student is illustrated by conferences with parents to discuss their children's progress and problems.

THE two elements, intellectual and moral, comprising a sound and beneficial education, have been conscientiously fostered by the Junior and Senior High School faculty.

As we progressed through the corridors of higher education, subjects became increasingly difficult and we were more dependent upon them to set before us the ideals of honor and truth. The faculty staff, specialists in their respective fields, have dedicated themselves to the American way and preparing us for the future.

GUIDANCE

Mr. Olney, Richard Roeller.

*W*ITH the aid of Mr. Olney, our new guidance counselor, students have decided what courses are suited to them. Booklets and pamphlets at the students' disposal have opened the doors of opportunities offered in colleges and different fields of work. With the advice of our counselor, students have made their decisions concerning future education.

CLINIC

Miss Gressman, James Mazur, Dr. Martin, Stephen Graovac.

*T*HE portals of the clinic always stand open to admit all students and teachers needing advice on health problems. Physical examinations constitute only one of the many services found on the yearly agenda of our clinic. In its aim to insure the health of the students, it conducts diphtheria and small pox immunization clinics. With Miss Gressman as head, the clinic also combats our minor ailments and teaches good health habits.

CAFETERIA

Mrs. Nola, Mrs. Krohn, Mrs. Koepka, Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. Shepker, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. O'Bryant.

*A*S a lintel supports a door, so the women of our Cafeteria form the basis of good health. Mrs. Nola and her staff, including Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Koepka, Mrs. Shepker, Mrs. Krohn, Mrs. O'Bryant, and Mrs. Carpenter, each day serve well-balanced lunches. Besides this, they have willingly assisted in the preparation of fish dinners, the school dances such as the Prom, Hop and Ball, and in ordering supplies for the senior stands.

DENTAL HYGIENIST

Miss Schiller, Richard Roeller.

INCLUDED in the better health aims of Eden Central, is the excellent work accomplished by our dental hygienist, Miss Schiller. During the year she checks each student's teeth, teaches proper care of teeth, and reports to parents any cavities or other mouth conditions that need attention. In this way she opens for us the doors to bright smiles and happiness.

BUS DRIVERS

FOR their safe transportation and ever patient smiles, we are indebted to our friendly bus drivers. These men in all kinds of weather, bring to school punctually, all those who depend upon this service. They have also willingly driven to field trips including "The Robe" and "Ivanhoe" and all "away games" in the basketball and football seasons.

CUSTODIANS

Mr. Benkelman, Mr. Kaufman, Mr. Knoll.

OUR janitorial staff is a very important part of our school, working diligently, to keep the building neat and clean.

After basketball games, movies and fish dinners they clean up the school. On evenings when dances or other class functions are taking place, it is their thoughtfulness that keeps the school doors open.

The smiles and help of "Ma" Morris can never be forgotten; so thanks to her also.

ADULT EDUCATION

KNITTING

BUSINESS PRACTICES

THE Adult Education Staff of Eden Central School is proud to proclaim the completion of eight years of successful operation. During those eight years, this program has expanded to include more fields of interest and is still growing. Under the direction of Mr. Leo J. Foroscij, the classes conducted four nights a week, provide hobbies as well as academic knowledge. Ceramics, Sewing, and Physical Education are illustrations of the many fields which the adult program includes.

Higher registration each year illustrates the growing interest in this program and shows the progress made in the movement of adults to further their education.

SENIORS

CLASS HISTORY

IN the fall of 1941 a group of children entered anxiously, and yet warily into a doorway which has led to one of the greatest adventures in which they would ever participate--thirteen years of education. This group has grown into the graduating class of 1954. Though still having quite a few original members, we have gained and lost many others. Each year as we have passed through new doorways, into higher classes we have learned a great deal in many different fields.

In kindergarten, learning to cooperate in work and play was the main theme. A large factor in accomplishing this achievement was our rhythm band, with Carol Ziegelhofer as a very competent conductor. From first to fifth grades we learned reading, writing, and arithmetic with games, songs, and plays intermingled. Sixth grade was a big year. Putting on a very successful play entitled "Snickerly Nick" was one of our many achievements. Because of its success, we had the pleasure of putting it on at Hamburg High School. This year also marked our graduation into Junior High School, a very exciting occasion for us all.

Our entrance into the Junior High doorway was filled with so much spirit and ability to work together as a class that in our Freshman year, we originated the annual freshman dance. This gala event was entitled "Springtime Serenade."

In our Sophomore year, we began to work seriously toward our objectives, the Washington trip, the "Embers", and other activities. Selling picture postcards of the school and sponsoring a very successful "Hop" entitled "Falltime Frolic" were our projects this year.

Our Junior year, very busy with heavily-loaded schedules and many extra-curricular activities was also filled with class projects. We collected class dues, had a movie, and received our class rings. A big highlight of the year, was our Junior Prom with Barbara Zittel as queen and Beverly Rothe, Marion Miller, Marlyn Mammoser, and Cynthia Carpenter as her attendants.

Since crossing the threshold of our Senior year, we have accomplished many things. After promoting a "Back to School Dance," magazine subscriptions, and sale of fruitcakes, we held fish dinners as class projects. The Washington Trip, Senior Ball and, of course, the "Embers" were the biggest achievements of this special year.

That "Get Acquainted" dance with all its exhibition dancing and lively music surely set the rapid pace of the senior year. Who can forget all the fun, hurry and worry of selling the school pictures, taking the pictures for the yearbook, preparing the school play, meeting the deadline on January 15th, and all the time reciting the passage from "Macbeth," "Time and the hour runs through the roughest day." Or who can help remembering John Zulick's frequent outburst, "So fair and foul a day I have not seen?"

It seems sad passing through the archways of our Senior year, perhaps never to enter again except in memory, but we are all looking ahead to the many varied doors of our future careers which we will undoubtedly enter and leave as anxiously and warily as when we first entered that one back in 1941.

THE Junior Class began the year's activities by electing class officers. They were as follows: John Dempsey, president; Daniel Tronolone, vice president; Carol Thompson, secretary; Richard Smith, treasurer. Even before Christmas, plans for the Junior Prom were discussed and committees appointed. The Prom took place on January 29, with Jeanne Shepker as queen and Sue Beehler, Mary Laine Phatiger, Carol Thompson, and Joan Cassata as attendants. Recently, the usual excitement arose over the arrival of the class rings, the happiest happening of the junior year.

Throughout the year members of the Junior Class have been active in student government, sports, and music.

THE Sophomore Class which successfully crossed the threshold of Senior High, has diligently worked to maintain a high scholastic average and participate in school events. Chorus, cheerleading and athletics are accredited to the list of activities in which members have taken part.

The Hop "Autumn Festival," which proved to be a gala and successful affair, is an example of the class's ability to cooperate. If they maintain this ability to work together, there is little doubt that this class will be one of the best groups to graduate from Eden Central.

FRESHMAN CLASS

THE Freshmen can boast of a year of accomplishment. They have acquitted themselves creditably in more difficult subjects, have had a large representation in the Junior Varsity teams in football and basketball, and they have provided strong competition in the track team.

Freshmen advisors comment favorably on the spirit of enthusiasm and good will which makes itself felt in loyal support of school activities and class projects.

Mrs. Conklin, Miss Witzleben, Miss Collins, and Mr. Davis are guiding the Freshmen in planning their annual dance near the climax of the year. Committees anticipate the best Freshman dance in Eden's history.

EIGHTH GRADE

First Row, left to right: A. Sessanna, B. Knoll, S. Connors, S. O'Bryant, M. Whetzle, J. Cole, J. Bley, C. Sibiga, A. Fraser, R. Remiszewski, B. Finch, M. Huckle, R. Gould, R. Gould. Second Row: J. First Row: S. Piller, D. Schasel, R. Schmitt, K. Smith. Second Row: J. Crowe, C. Gehl, R. Gould, G. Agle.

As the doors of this year close, members of the eighth grade under the guidance of Mrs. Hannan, Mr. Mazuca and Mrs. Bates, find themselves about to venture another step along the corridor of education. They can look back upon a year of scholastic achievement in varied fields. Art, home economics, music, mathematics, English and science have helped students decide what course in high school they wish to pursue. Extra-curricular activities enriched the year as students eagerly participated in music and intramurals.

In addition to this full schedule, they also enthusiastically attended social and sport events, supporting the teams and other classes.

SEVENTH GRADE

THE largest seventh grade in Eden's history under the leadership of Mrs. Dash, Mr. Collard, and Mr. Forosciij, took their places in Junior High this year. 120 students were enrolled, making this class outstanding in numbers as well as abilities.

They began their Junior High course eagerly anticipating exploits in shop, homemaking, art, and photography. Many of them participated in band and orchestra, as well as in the choruses. Special projects, however, did not occupy all of their time, for mathematics, science, social studies, and English kept them busy at their desks. Gym classes and health added to the day's activities, all doing their part to help these students to open another door of education.

INTERMEDIATE LEVEL

Seated: K. Straker, M. Brand, J. Turton, A. Kaczmarek, B. Ferris, S. Preston. Standing: M. Vara, L. Arnold, D. McGuire, P. Neidermeyr, L. Murray, S. Cheney, L. Barnes, D. Will, R. Schiffman, R. Richardson, J. Canny, D. Mallaber, D. Nelson, A. Shamblen, R. Maltbie, F. Cerace, G. Stresing, D. Campbell. Standing, Last Row: C. Cole, P. Kuppel, Mr. Griffin.

*M*R. Griffin's students enjoyed a big adventure in crafts this year. Woodworking, painting, plaster casting, and paper sculpturing proved an especially worthy study for the entire class in Room 241. The remarkable spirit of good will and mutual helpfulness that prevails here will enable these students to meet with greater ease those problems that lie behind that ominous door of Junior High School.

*S*INCE graduation is the goal of this year's work, the students in Miss Saunders' class, Room 240, have worked diligently, through committees and projects, to illustrate the knowledge they have acquired in their various basic subjects in their extensive preparations for the opening of that all-important and massive door to that "Magic Land" called Junior High School.

First Row: D. Walker, J. Enser, G. Kelly, E. Benzin, P. Kirst, D. O'Day, G. Graovac, E. Scritchfield. Second Row: G. Wysocki, P. Zittel, J. Schassar, P. Meyer, J. Franz, V. Zells, J. Mackey, K. Tanner. Third Row: M. Horton, K. Euler, G. Bolton, C. Robb, P. Lutes, B. Staby, H. Phatiger, C. Merlino, A. Reid, D. Davidson, M. Lakely. Fourth Row: B. Davis, R. Thrasher, D. Kiec, R. Towns, L. Blowers, R. Richardson, Miss Saunders.

INTERMEDIATE LEVEL

First Row: D. Schneider, T. Bridges, J. Zittel, A. Askew, R. Kader. Second Row: M. Rayeur, R. Swartz, B. Sessions, D. Allanson, J. Preston. Third Row: R. Koubek, W. Agle, G. Pfitzinger, R. Watson, B. Carpenter. Fourth Row: D. Rice, D. Williams, G. Franz, J. Dauer, A. Filipiak. Fifth Row: S. Weiner, J. Bradley, N. Blenk, G. Brockman. Standing: W. Grenther, C. Kader, B. Baird, E. Anderson, E. Schoepp, Mrs. Gould.

*W*E, in Room 242, Mrs. Gould's class, are having a delightful year studying the Ancient Mediterranean World in social studies. Besides using cut paper, chalk, or crayons to illustrate the work in a monastery, a castle, and a tournament, we have made book reports, folders, and Christmas pictures, entered the Christmas contest, and enjoyed such movies as "How To Catch a Cold," "Water Cycle," and "Nomads of the Desert."

*I*N Mrs. Wilson's class, Room 243, we are concentrating on vocabulary, selecting the correct meaning of a word as it is used in a sentence. Our new social studies books are so interesting that we are constantly on the alert for historical pictures for the bulletin board and for specimens of fungi, wasps' nests, corn smut, and different tree leaves for science exhibits. We hope to visit the Museum of Natural Science soon.

First Row: R. Eckhardt, P. Filipiak, L. Moran, D. Nagel, B. Smith, W. Hammond. Second Row: C. Ellison, J. Wilson, R. Rome, J. Fox, M. Roberts, K. Willis. Third Row: M. Montgomery, P. Smith, S. Straker, D. Chyreck, P. Jordan, J. VerHagen. Fourth Row: B. Pike, R. Ward, P. Witherel, M. Batorski, W. Ackerman, D. Wright. Fifth Row: G. Machmer, S. Romano, J. Zynda, S. Mallaber, G. Bogardus, Mrs. Wilson.

First Row: G. Messer, S. Gertis, M. Eisele, C. Cole, L. Hardy, M. Walker. Second Row: M. McNeill, D. Gehl, P. Gehl, K. Williams, S. Hobbie, G. Johnson. Third Row: M. Lutes, J. Hammond, J. Potter, B. Page, W. Guillaume, R. Chittenden, J. Partridge. Fourth Row: Mrs. Lemmler, M. Spencer, D. Young, K. Robb, R. Hale, J. Agle, J. Kielar, M. Guenther, P. Benson, K. Cole.

*M*RS. Lemmler's students, in room 245, had a most fascinating year. The boys of the class learned of many new places through their hobby of stamp collecting. During the latter part of the lunch hour, the boys could usually be found in a huddle over some new stamp. Both boys and girls proved their originality by constructing dioramas in connection with English, reading, and social studies. They also took excursions to many places of interest provided us in this area.

*I*N connection with science the pupils of room 254, with Mrs. Stevens their teacher, went on a hike to the woods. They gathered plants and dirt for their class terrarium and enjoyed a profitable day, seeing many of the wonders they had read about. They enjoyed science experiments with pulleys, made clever model airplanes and tried making flour and salt maps showing the landform regions of United States.

*T*HE keynote of this year's work in 246 was the fostering of friendship. Under the leadership of Miss Wilson, students organized a "Pen Pal" club that proved as useful as it was enjoyable. They brought the Colonial and Pioneer periods of history to life by means of dramatizations presented by committees for everyone's enjoyment. They learned about many of the famous men and women who made our country great and resolved, through good citizenship, to carry on the heritage these great Americans gave us.

A GREAT interest in boats has led students in Miss Boardman's class, Room 247, to an appreciation of what the early explorers and colonists did toward the development of our great country. In imagination they sailed, as explorers, to this new land, and on a map of North America pinned the flags of the countries which claimed territory here. As a further venture they made scrapbooks of samples of work completed in each of the subjects, each child contributing to make a true book of adventure.

"*N*OW that we are upstairs this year, we have decided that our main aim will be to learn to act and behave like grown-up boys and girls." With this worthy goal in mind, the students in Room 249, Mrs. Hawth's class, attacked their main problem of gaining more knowledge of Early American Times by visiting the Buffalo Historical Building and accumulating much useful information. They are planning a trip to General Mills to see flour milled and to Fairmont Foods to see the processing of milk and the making of cheese.

A HOBBY show, autobiographies, and the production of a class magazine by Mrs. Zdzinski's class, in Room 250, helped the students learn the value of democratic group action. As individuals and as a group, students endeavored to attain greater achievement and responsibility. In reading they gained a better understanding of the broad scope of reading materials available while improving the basic skills. They learned to express themselves in written and oral work through the presentation of original plays, such as the Thanksgiving play, given in assembly, and talks following research work.

First Row: P. Schmidt, J. Rockwood, C. Nellis. Second Row: R. Webber, A. Bonafede, S. Agle. Third Row: M. Lomison, W. Enser, A. Meyer. Fourth Row: P. McNeill, M. Papich, W. Voelz. First Side Row: S. *M*RS. Rothe's class, in Room 102, is stressing the three R's, putting great emphasis on reading. With the help of Mrs. Lloyd, the special reading teacher, the students are progressing quite satisfactorily. Their social studies units help them to recognize their dependence upon other people, plants, and animals, and to understand and appreciate the value of their homes, farms, and work. A trip to the zoo completes their enjoyment of their studies.

*M*ANY exciting activities have developed from the hard work on reading done by students in Mrs. Blakely's class, in Room 130. They have enjoyed papering their room with new words learned this year, inviting parents to "Open House," taking field trips, preparing a magic act for the Thanksgiving program, making Christmas gifts for parents, having parties, and decorating their room with plants, especially the blue African violet.

First Row: P. Williams, G. Ellis, E. Pew, R. Anger. Second Row: H. Greeley, M. Cohoon, A. Haist, D. Knoll, B. Sheffield, D. Shamblen. Third Row: R. Franz, R. Laing, E. Korkus, H. Brewer, D. Rogers, T. Kuppel, Mrs. Blakely, J. Bertsch.

PANEL discussions and quizzes organized by the students, under the guidance of Miss Poniatowski, in Room 179, teach students to become independent workers who learn to listen and to evaluate the work of the class. Through an enlarged outside reading program, a study of other peoples, and a varied language arts program, they develop into secure individuals who face the next door of life with confidence in themselves and society.

SINCE reading is the cornerstone of all the other work, students in Miss Hojnacki's class, Room 180, correlate their activities, writing, spelling, social studies, and art work around it. In social studies we have prepared a special library corner for enriching our background before going into a discussion of these topics: Indians, early settlers, Eskimos, Holland, China, transportation, and communication. In science we follow Nature's seasonal patterns, followed by our spring and fall walks to the woods and a visit to the zoo.

*B*Y using books from their own classroom library, boys and girls in Mrs. Erickson's class, Room 105, have become more appreciative of services rendered by the community and its helpers. Many of these helpers they have studied in detail. As a culminating activity for the mail unit, they visited the Buffalo Post Office where they saw the things they had learned in class put into actual operation. The feeling of independence and security which these children have gained has made this year a very happy and satisfying one.

A TRIP to the Buffalo Post Office by Mrs. Krempa and her students in Room 107 made a stimulating climax to the intensified reading program which has given much pleasure and satisfaction to every child. Choosing their own books from the classroom library has been an enriching and truly satisfying experience which has brought a sense of adventure and independence into the lives of the children and helped them to correlate experiences met in books with experiences in daily living. They feel that this year has been a very profitable and progressive one.

Minier, Mrs. Smith, J. Robotaille.

*A*LL of the experiences in the activities of Mrs. Smith's class in Room 123 have centered around the theme of reading. At the primary level of learning, only a firm foundation in that most important subject will furnish the keys to open the doors through which all children must pass to reach successfully any of those higher levels of learning. After reading about several kinds of animals, the children were delighted to see some of these animals when they took a trip to the zoo.

*T*HIS year we have intensified our reading program in Miss McIntyre's class, Room 131. Our aim has been to open the doors of learning by stimulating the child to a greater interest in reading. To enrich this program, we have purchased many new library books. Since our greatest emphasis has been on reading, the children have become independent readers, experiencing great satisfaction in being able to select and read the books chosen by them from their own classroom library. For other projects of this group, please read the write-up for Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Krempa, and Mrs. Erickson since these four teachers had the same aims and accomplishments.

THE class in Room 121, under Mrs. Jeffe's supervision, has been busily happy this year developing new interests and making new friends. Learning to read and to work together with other boys and girls has been a joyful experience. Though they have liked all of the parties and festivities, the one they enjoyed most was the making of all the Christmas decorations and gifts. They have learned to be courteous to each other, to do good deeds, and to be kind to their pets and other animals.

HOW busy the boys and girls in Miss Wrench's class in Room 126 have been this year! Besides working eagerly to improve their reading, they did good work in spelling, arithmetic, and art. The social studies program centered around four big units: the school, the home and family, the community, and holidays. In science they studied plants, trees and leaves, and brought in specimens for several exhibits. At Christmas time they learned to work together by putting on a toy show. Later in the year they took a trip to a nearby farm.

Hodge, J. Koren, Mrs. Morgester.

*A*T the beginning of the school year activities in Room 135, Mrs. Morgester's class, begin with a school unit. The second unit concerns what farmers are doing in October and in the spring. The home unit continues throughout the winter. A unit on community helpers will conclude the year's social studies. We have stressed reading all the year and want to finish three primers and first readers, besides already having finished three pre-primers. From orange crates we have built our own library where boys and girls like to sit to look at books.

*A*LTHOUGH the children in Miss Ess's class derived much pleasure in preparing for Open House, the most enjoyable day was "Cowboy Day" when all the students in Room 194 came to school in cowboy attire, each carrying his finest holster and gun. Children were pleased when one of their classmates, Lorraine Kader, won second prize in the coloring contest sponsored by the "Tower." The picture to be colored was of Santa Claus and his sleigh.

DeMuth, C. Newman, Miss Horton.

*M*ISS Horton's class in Room 196 was very busy this year learning to read, write, and count. For our part of the Thanksgiving program we recited a poem, sang a song, and formed a turkey with colored paper. Our Christmas activities included making presents for our mothers and fathers and decorating our room with paper chains, pictures, and a big Christmas tree. In the spring we talked about animals and then visited the zoo.

*O*UR varied activities during this year have shown the members of Mr. Shephard's class that cooperation and team work are helpful and necessary to bring happiness into our daily lives. Working with a group teaches the individual cooperation and the value of sharing information. Our field trips taught us how other people help us every day. We have tried to improve our reading and other subjects and to learn about our community.

ROOM 197 is under the supervision of Mrs. Davidson and Miss Bie. In the kindergarten each child learns to get along with other children and to work and play in a group. Trips to the woods, fire station, the zoo, and the Post Office enriched our knowledge of the community in which we live. Projects such as baking cookies, making vegetable soup, and churning butter provide not only fun but also experience in following directions and taking our turns in a group.

BLOCK building, clay modeling, woodworking, easel painting, puzzles, games, dramatizations, and dramatic play in the doll corner are enjoyable parts of our daily program which give us many opportunities to face and solve problems. The kindergarten year is a most important one for the child as he develops skills which are necessary for his success in first grade.

Benkelman, Mrs. Gerrie.

ROOM 198 is under the supervision of Mrs. Gerrie and Miss Pack. The kindergarten is a place to make new friends, to learn to get along with each other and to be ourselves, depending and relying on our own abilities. Through stories, music, dramatic play, creative activities and art work we spent many happy hours together this year. We became acquainted with our big school and visited the Post Office, fire station and the zoo. Together we enjoyed the experience of making vegetable soup, applesauce, butter, and baking Christmas cookies.

WE especially liked working with stick puppets at Halloween and Thanksgiving time. At Christmas time we made presents for our parents and found joy in celebrating Christmas together. Valentine Day, Easter, and our Mother's Day tea gave us more opportunities to share our fun and work with each other. Through the many varied experiences we had this year we are now better adjusted and equipped to meet the new situations of our next year in school.

SCIENCE

First Row: A. Pryor, N. Combs, C. Fox, J. Schumer, M. Shea, C. Smith, T. Wylie. Second Row: R. Gearhart, W. Euler, Mr. Varco, D. Mashke, H. Herdle, B. Rothe, B. Zittel, A. Blakely, E. Towns.

*W*ITHIN the portals of science departments such as ours, lies the basis of all scientific achievement today. Chemistry, physics, and biology, the constituents of our curriculum in that field, form both an interesting and necessary course in a world so dependent upon scientific development. Among the highlights in chemistry this year were field trips to the Kendall Refining Company in Pennsylvania and a laboratory in Buffalo.

LANGUAGES

First Row: J. Dempsey, S. Lamb, J. Chachula. Second Row: J. Miller, J. Schumer, R. Stevenson. Third Row: W. Gorman, N. Combs, G. Vereerstraeten. Fourth Row: J. Euler, K. Edwards, C. Fox, A. Thompson. Standing: Miss Collins.

*I*N today's turbulent world, the basis of cooperation among nations is language. Forming our language curriculum at Eden Central are Latin, the basis of all language, and French, the modern language of diplomacy. Under the direction of Miss Collins, these classes provide doors to world understanding for today's students, tomorrow's adults.

HISTORY

First Row: J. Bauer, E. Gould, D. Clancy, B. Blust, M. J. Kobiolka, B. Thiel. Second Row: W. Heisler, D. Gallman, M. Haven, R. Zulick, R. Buggenhagen. Third Row: Y. Fox, C. Richardson, A. Thompson, W. Schassar, C. Thompson. Standing: Mr. Duffy.

*C*OOPERATION and understanding among nations are important steps toward the attainment of peace. In order to promote this understanding, knowledge of the past and present eras of foreign nations must be secured and applied to the present problems facing the world. Under Mr. Duffy's direction, students in citizenship education learn fundamentals that will help them open the doors of peace when they become tomorrow's adults.

STUDY HALL

First Table: E. Stegmeier, E. Fuller, L. Preischel. Second Table: D. Owen, R. Zulick, W. Terwilliger, R. Nehring. Third Table: G. Schwanz, E. Thrasher, E. White, B. Fredrickson. Fourth Table: J. Cassata, B. Blust, C. Novick, R. Geiger. Fifth Table: J. Szmamda, R. Dayka, S. Hoag.

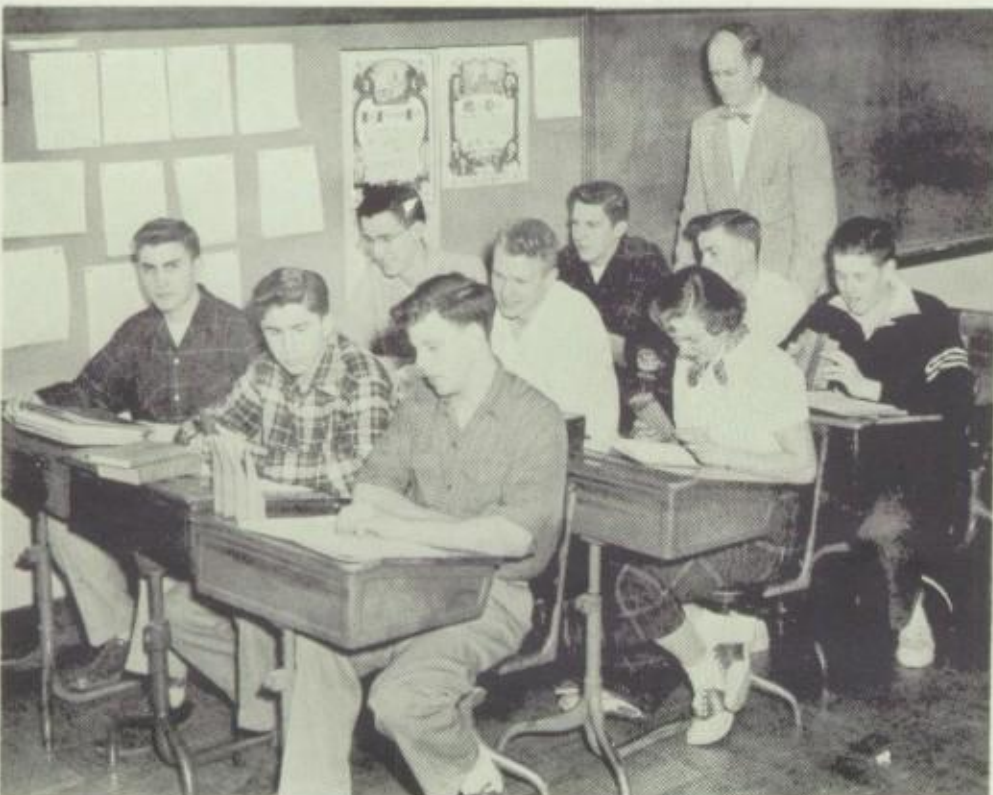

BECAUSE proper study habits play an important part in the successful achievement of a course, the school provides study halls in which a student may complete his homework assignments. Under the supervision of various teachers, study halls held in the Library, Cafeteria, and other classrooms, form a quiet atmosphere in which students may concentrate on their work or read quietly from the large assortment of books in our library.

CORRECTIVES

First Row: D. Kieck, R. Schiffman, J. Canny, D. Campbell.

THE value of training to the body cannot be over emphasized. In order that all may have some form of gym, those unable to participate in Physical Education build better bodies through gymnastics and exercise. Under the leadership of Mr. Moore, these students develop physical fitness to maximum capacity.

MATHEMATICS

First Row: M. Shea, D. Mashke, W. Euler. Second Row: E. Towns, A. Blakely, C. Fox. Third Row: C. Smith, M. Bruns, W. Gorman. Standing: Mr. Robb.

BROADENING the ability of students to reason out problems intelligently and logically, is the chief purpose of Mathematics. As the complexities of the course increase from its fundamental course, Elementary Algebra, students go deeper into the science of measuring and interpreting properties of different functions. This year, through the cooperation of Mr. Robb, students also have the opportunity to study the fundamental principles of slide rule.

First Row: M. Sibiga, N. Coggins. Second Row: A. Bugenhagen, J. Wetzler, D. Pepper, A. Bugenhagen, E. Blaszczyk, R. Krycia. Standing: Mr. Munger.

THE maintenance of successful farms and training of competent farmers in this area are studied and discussed in Agriculture. To stimulate active interest in modern scientific farming, field trips are taken to various dairies, farms and colleges. The use of modern machinery, with emphasis on its selection, and care, is also an important part of the course taught by Mr. Munger.

HOME ECONOMICS

Seated: E. Schmitt, M. Eckhardt, P. Faruga, J. Adrion. Standing: Mrs. Conklin, O. Gearman, L. Schreiber.

HOMEMAKING has as its goal individual development and preparation for family life through home and class projects. These are in the fields of personal relations, food, housing, health, clothing, child care and the use of time, energy and money. This year the principal's dinner was one of the highlights of the homemaking III group. They also enjoyed a trip to Cornell University during "Farm and Home Week."

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

First Circle: K. Agle, W. Towns, J. Miller, A. Blakely. Second Row: W. Alfrets, C. Richardson, C. Ringer, A. Bugenhagen, D. Mehs, J. Cassata, D. Tronolone, D. Gallman.

OPERATING on the assumption that a healthy body opens the door to a healthy mind, Eden Central offers a diversified program in physical education. Under the supervision of Miss Palmer and Mr. Hagen, students learn the fundamentals of team as well as individual sports, while enjoying the pleasure derived from playing together. Good sportsmanship and the ability to work as a group are the results of this class.

CLASSROOMS

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

GENERAL shop, woodworking, ceramics and photography comprise the course of Industrial Arts. Mr. Mergler, the instructor of this course, helps develop in students the ability to work skillfully with clay, wood, leather, electricity, and textiles and produces from them useful and decorative articles. Beautiful pottery and lamps are among the finished products that result from the students' skillful endeavors.

PHOTOGRAPHY

R. Gerspacher, Mr. Mergler, M. Bogner, K. Agle, L. Schreiber.

"FOR every man a hobby" is an aphorism often employed when reference is given to photography. Through this class, students obtain sufficient knowledge for an enjoyable hobby or the fundamentals necessary for further study in its field. Directed by Mr. Mergler, the students devote their time to the study of various cameras, their uses and care, the development of negatives, and the proper way to take a picture.

BUSINESS

First Row: M. Miller, M. Mammoser, C. Ziegelhofer, A. Preischel. Second Row: M. Dauer, A. Granger, M. Schwanz. Third Row: R. Young, J. Weinar. Standing: Mr. Ball.

THE goal of the business department is to train better citizens to face what lies behind the massive doors of business. Through Business Math, Law and Management, students learn fundamental principles upon which business is based. Mr. Ball has taught the students the advantages of swiftness while stressing the importance of neatness. Many jobs await the student who successfully completes this course.

CLASSROOMS

COMMERCIAL

First Row: D. Palmberg, J. Miller, M. J. Kobiolka, D. Gallman. Second Row: R. Zulick, D. Clancy, D. Looze, Y. Fox. Standing: C. Richardson, Miss Witzleben.

THE clicking of typewriters within the secretarial room signifies the speed, accuracy and neatness stressed in business. Under Miss Witzleben's instruction, typing, shorthand and secretarial skills are practiced to aid students in the knowledge necessary for successful endeavors in the secretarial field. Acting as secretaries to designated teachers provides students with helpful experience for their future in the business world.

MUSIC

A. Thompson, P. Hammond, B. Feaslev. D. Sherman, Mrs. Gangi.

RHYTHM, chords, octaves, and keys are terms explained and used by students venturing into the music course. Fundamentals of the minor and major scales, transposition of melodies, and melody writing are included as part of the class. With Mrs. Gangi as instructor, this course lays basis of music for those who wish to study further into its field, or provides sufficient knowledge for students wishing to make it a hobby.

HEALTH

First Row: M. Phatiger, J. Shepker, N. Niefer. Second Row: B. Thiel, C. Novick, C. Thompson, J. Cassata, C. DeBoi. Third Row: M. Kobiolka, D. Adrion, C. Richardson, J. Miller, J. Szmanda. Fourth Row: E. Gould, E. Haier, J. Bauer, M. Haven, P. Rice. Fifth Row: A. Bugenhagen, D. Gallman, B. Serena. Sixth Row: S. Hoag, D. Clancy, S. Beehler.

PROPER health habits, family relations and teenage problems form the basis of our health classes. With the supervision of Mr. Nelson, the juniors engage in class discussions concerning present problems of the average teenager and derive help from the information relating to dating and going steady. Studies of the anatomy, diseases, and emergency first aid are also part of the year's curriculum. Together, these component parts of health teach students the value of both physical and mental health.

CLASSROOMS

DRIVER EDUCATION

First Row: J. Dempsey, D. Gould, Mr. Nelson, R. Nehring, D. Anderson, J. Cassata, S. Spence, P. Faruga. Second Row: J. Miller, J. Slaughaupt, D. Adron, A. Thompson.

THE purpose of the drivers' education class is to lessen the number of teenage accidents due to reckless and careless driving. Through this course, students learn the proper and the safe driving habits which will result in a lower teenage accident rate on the public highways. Directed by Mr. Nelson, students have the opportunity to practice what they learn in class in a driver training car provided by the school.

ART APPRECIATION

First Row: A. Kasinski, M. Knoll, N. Burgess. Second Row: R. Mostek, J. Neuman, J. Brzezicki, A. Burger, R. Kader. Third Row: W. Finch, B. Gier, J. Clark, A. Scritchfield, R. Monin, R. Chyrek.

AS a student crosses the threshold of art appreciation, he develops the ability to understand the fundamentals it represents.

Through the study of art design and appreciation, he learns to develop his artistic abilities. With this as a basis, students have a foundation with which to pursue future studies in that field. Included in this course is the making of artistic posters and decorations for campaigns, holidays, and school activities.

ENGLISH

First Row: A. Bugenhagen, P. Faruga, N. Coggins, T. Wylie, R. Zulick. Second Row: M. Bruns, J. Schumer, A. Blakely, M. Coggins, S. Obremski. Third Row: M. Shea, N. Combs, M. Sibiga, R. Krycia, R. Smolinski. Seated: S. Lamb. Standing: J. Chachula, R. Roeller, Mrs. Pierce.

ENGLISH provides a fundamental basis for successful achievement in all subjects. In its broad field is included the study of vocabulary, literature, and verbal fundamentals. Students derive from the course taught by Mr. Walsh, Mrs. Brenne- man, Mrs. Pierce, Mrs. Hannan, and Mr. Mazuca, the ability to organize their thoughts clearly and accurately in essay as well as oral form.

Through the study of literature, students learn to appreciate its value and derive a better vocabulary from its contents.

Seated: P. Bauer, P. Faruga, C. Fischer, G. Anger, R. Kader. Standing: A. Dole, L. Schultz, B. Withkowski, D. Clancy, M. Albert, A. Eckel, S. Clancy, S. Piechocki, N. Burgess, B. Soverign, S. Warren, E. Thrasher, J. DiMaria, M. Piechocki, S. Spack, Mrs. Conklin.

THE Junior High School as well as the Senior High School now has a group belonging to the Future Homemakers of America. Members work together on school, home, and community projects which contribute to better family living. They help needy children and families in their own and other countries. Individual leadership is developed as they sponsor classes in knitting, food, serving and various kinds of recreational activities.

4-H

Seated: R. Watson, J. Preston, J. Dauer, A. Shaw, K. Willis. Standing: D. Mashke, R. Roberts, P. Smith, E. Colintino, L. Nehring, R. Swartz. Instructor: Mr. Munger.

THIS 4-H Club is organized for boys from the fifth through the eighth grades who do not have an opportunity to belong to a Club in their own community. The boys carry on projects in dairying, poultry raising, home gardening, vegetable growing, pheasant rearing and farm shop.

SAFETY PATROL

EDEN'S Safety Patrol is a means through which traffic safety education can be extended beyond the classroom. Sponsored by the American Automobile Association, this group instructs, directs, and controls members of the student body in crossing highways and streets near the school. Selected on the basis of leadership and reliability, members of this organization, under Mr. Nelson's guidance, protect pupils against street hazards so common to school students.

ACTIVITIES

F. F. A.

First Row: A. Bugenhagen, M. Sibiga, D. Pepper, J. Haier, R. Salzman. Second Row: R. Geiger, N. Coggins, A. Schmitt, J. Stang, A. Chiavetta, A. Bugenhagen, V. Weiss. Third Row: Mr. Munger, E. THE Future Farmers of America is a National organization for boys enrolled in vocational agriculture in high school. The purpose of the organization is best expressed by their motto: "Learning to do, Doing to learn, Earning to live, Living to serve." Officers of the club for this year are: Michael Sibiga, president; Daniel Pepper, vice president; Ann Bugenhagen, secretary; John Haier, treasurer; Ronald Salzman, reporter; Robert Geiger, sentinel.

LIBRARY STAFF

First Row: A. Thompson, L. Kaczmarek, J. Cohoon, C. Penny, L. Davis, E. Thrasher, G. Anger. Second Row: Mrs. Greenwood, J. Hartly, J. Blaszczyk, R. Thiel, M. Landahl, G. Merchant, J. Slaughenaupt, S. Holiday, K. Smith, M. Blowers, S. O'Bryant, L. Schultz, D. Agle, J. Bauer.

UNDER the direction of Mrs. Greenwood, the library staff performs many duties throughout the year. Among these are the checking of books in and out, keeping the library neat and clean and placing books on the shelves. This efficient group adds much to our library attractiveness.

STAGE CREW

Mr. Mergler, J. Clark, G. Guenther, C. Schasel, R. Slaughenaupt, O. Moore, R. Strawbrich.

THE work of the Stage Crew behind the stage is an important part of all successful theatrical and musical programs enjoyed at Eden Central. With Mr. Mergler's supervision, this organization of boys interested in the mechanical side of productions, provides proper lighting and sound, makes the stage background and takes care of the curtains. Throughout the year they are ready to give a helping hand whenever called upon.

ACTIVITIES

HIGH SCHOOL ROUND-UP

First Row: J. Pfarner, J. Pfarner, N. Imburgia, A. Bley.
Second Row: C. Richardson, M. Sheffield, P. Imburgia,
D. Brennan.

BECAUSE every student is an important member of the school, we do not wish to leave any of them out of our yearbook, the "Embers." Therefore, to include those absent on the day their class picture was taken, we present this picture of the high school student round-up.

WECS CLUB

R. Gearhart. Standing Mr. Duffy.

A NEW addition to Eden's long list of extra-curricular activities is the WECS Club. This organization consisting of members of the citizenship education class, under the direction of Mr. Duffy, each morning edits local, national and international news and announces their bulletins over the P.A. system. The club's achievement has been as informative to the student body as it has been enjoyable.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL

Seated: Mr. Peck. Standing, First Row: Mr. Anderson, Mr. Shepherd, Clifford Smith, Edward Schmittendorf, Wesley Euler, Mr. Walsh. Standing, Second Row: Mr. Mazuca, Mr. Hagen, Mr. Nelson, John Dempsey.

REPRESENTATIVES from each class, physical education instructors, the Student Council president and both principals meet once a month to discuss sports activities of the year. This organization, the Athletic Council, has among its duties, the responsibility of forming training rules, collecting money for equipment and giving awards to outstanding athletes. The highlight of the year is the annual sports dinner at which all athletes are honored.

ACTIVITIES

GRADE SCHOOL ROUND-UP

First Row: M. Persinger, G. White, M. Pheasant, M. Persinger, A. Stewart. Second Row: H. Wilson, P. Remiszewski, J. Persinger, M. Holehouse, D. Spencer.

BECAUSE the grade students were very cooperative in buying the "Embers" produced by the senior class, we felt that each of them should be present in the year-book. Those grade students who were unable to have their pictures taken with their respective classes are present in this picture.

TWINS

First Row: R. Duffek, D. Duffek, A. Kraft, J. Kraft, G. Smith, E. Smith, J. Cook, J. Cook. Second Row: J. Preston, S. Preston, R. Gould, R. Gould, C. Kader, R. Kader, E. Haier, J. Haier, J. Pfarner, J. Pfarner.

WITHIN the portals of Eden Central lie many outstanding features. We are proud to announce, as a very unusual feature, ten pairs of twins. Because this is so very exceptional and because it is something to be extremely proud of, we have given them special notice in our "Embers." Moreover, we proudly announce that the Juniors are among the classes containing twins, for the Haier twins are among its members.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

Left desk: J. Zulick, R. Roeller, M. Bogner, L. Schreiber, M. Supples, E. Schmitt, T. Spack. Right desk: L. Lomison, R. Slaughenaupt, C. Schasel, G. Lester, R. Gerspacher, Mr. Mergler.

FOR those students interested in photography as a hobby, a Photography Club has been initiated. The achievements of the club in the field of cameras, their uses and the development of pictures, are largely due to Mr. Mergler, whose excellent knowledge in the photography field is well known. Through this club, these hobbyists go more deeply into the field of photography and derive enjoyment as well as knowledge from its meetings.

BAND DIRECTOR, MR. HAHN

THE Senior Band program has been of great importance this year. The director, Mr. Hahn, worked arduously with the Band to prepare them for various programs they presented during the year. The result of this diligent preparation was evident as each program became a great success. Being host to All State, promoting the Christmas Program and concluding the year with the annual Spring Concert were a few of the highlights on the Senior Band agenda. In addition to this program, the band has provided enjoyable entertainment for the student body through informal assemblies which they organized from time to time throughout the year.

THE Senior Band program centered around the purpose of giving members proper background in music. To promote this, the Band learned to play various types of songs including both classic and non-classic. In connection with their study of non-classic music, the band participants, under the direction of Mr. Hahn, have learned many popular melodies. Such songs as "Dragnet," "Blue Tango," and "Rags to Riches" were especially enjoyed by the band and the student body. The continual practice of these songs and many others made the annual trip to Fredonia very successful. Many participants from the Eden Band received "A" and "B" awards as results of their endeavors.

GIRLS'-MIXED CHORUS

A most worthwhile extra-curricular activity of the school is Girls' Chorus. Through this organization, girls in Freshmen through Senior years have an opportunity to obtain voice training if they wish to continue in the music field, and receive pleasure from the group singing. Throughout the year specific students accompany the chorus at the piano. Three singing sections soprano, second soprano and alto combine with and form the enjoyable harmonious sounds heard every Monday and Wednesday as they meet. Included in the year's endeavors were the Fredonia Trip, the Spring Concert, and the Operetta.

Meeting once a week under the expert guidance of Mrs. Gangi, the Mixed Chorus has given many hours of pleasure to the parents, friends of students and the community as well as the participating members of the chorus. Selected participants of the chorus were chosen for the operetta, "Jerry of Jericho Road" and the remainder of the chorus sang for accompaniment. The Spring Concert also was part of their year's agenda. The Mixed Chorus looks back with fond memories on some of its most enjoyable songs including, "Hello Young Lovers," "All Through the Night," "Sleighride," and "Cindy."

MRS. GANGI

JUNIOR-GRADE CHORUS

MRS. CARPENTER

It is in the grades that students interested in music receive the experience of ensemble singing that prepares them for participation in the high school choruses. Under the skillful and competent direction of Mrs. Carpenter, this spirited and melodious organization has become an excellent and most enjoyable singing group. While learning to appreciate good music and blend their voices in harmony, the group participated in and presented various programs. Their most outstanding and beautiful offering of the year was the Christmas program which instilled in each person present, the true spirit and value of Christmas.

As grade school chorus members become more advanced in their music knowledge, they graduate into the Junior High Chorus. Under the direction of Mrs. Carpenter, this group has worked earnestly in preparation for the time when they will become members of Senior High Choruses. The organization's most eagerly met challenge of the year was the learning of three-part harmony. It was successfully mastered by the end of the year. The organization also presented several programs throughout the year. Among the presentations which we enjoyed were the Christmas Pageant and the Spring Concert.

INTERMEDIATE-JUNIOR BAND

First Row: P. O'Day, R. Koubek, D. Allanson, K. Williams, B. Baird, N. Walther. Second Row: W. Agle, J. Wysocki, C. Cole, G. Graovac, C. Kader, J. Agle, G. Machmer, D. Williams, D. Walker, E. O'Day, J. Schasser, R. Swartz, W. Guenther, R. Kader. Fourth Row: M. Eisle, J. Hammond, B. Staby, J. Preston, C. Hammond, B. Page, M. Twist.

THE Intermediate Band again this year took its pedestal amongst the well known activities this school encourages. Composed of members from the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades, these students, forming the youngest experienced band group of the school, do their part in making the music department flourish. Under the competent leadership of Mr. Hahn, the members are looking forward to their days in the Senior Band.

BEGINNING musicians in the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades have the opportunity to show their musical skills in the Junior Band. This band, like the Senior Band, maintains a yearly program. It participates in the annual Spring Concert and some of its members also partake in the Fredonia Contest. Soon these young musicians will compose the Senior Band of tomorrow.

First Row: J. Bradley, G. Phitzinger, R. Laing, P. Williams, G. Price, M. Eckhardt, K. Anderson, J. Kielar, J. Maltbie, B. Smith, C. Cabral. Second Row: L. Moran, R. Zulick, E. Taft, M. Cahoon, T. C. Eckhardt, D. Will. Standing: P. Colvin, M. O'Day, Mrs. Gangi.

THE Orchestra, under the skillful direction of Mrs. Gangi, has had a most successful year. We crossed a threshold of music, more difficult than many of us had encountered previously. It presented a challenge which we readily accepted.

The members have played in the Fredonia Music Festival, Annual Spring Concert and at the Graduation Exercises. As a result of this year's experiences, we hope to have acquired that skill necessary to enter a more difficult doorway of music.

THE members of this activity, lower left, under the direction of Mrs. Gangi, have derived much pleasure from working together and as a result of their efforts, have provided many enjoyable melodies for the student body and other local organizations.

As the athletes enter the football field or the basketball court, they are cheered on to victory by the vivacious playing of the Sports Band. Under the competent directorship of James Messer, they play such snappy and peppy marches as the "Notre Dame Victory March" and "Indiana." The Sports Band plays an important role in building up the crowd's enthusiasm.

CHARACTER, scholarship, leadership, and service constitute the ideals of the National Honor Society, sponsored by Mrs. Pierce and Mr. Peck. Present members of the ETA CHAPTER of Eden include: Clifford Smith, president; Barbara Zittel, vice-president; Joan Schumer, secretary; Carol Fox, treasurer. Faye Gehl, the fifth member tapped last year, now resides in Colorado. These workers have conducted the various fund-raising campaigns for Junior Red Cross, Community Chest, and March of Dimes. They will have complete charge of the installation of new members soon to be tapped in the annual candle-lighting ceremony. Since "Embers" will not be seen by students before the induction ceremony occurs, we shall now divulge names of new members: Arthur Blakely, Marion Miller, Beverly Rothe, Edward Towns, and Carol Ziegelhofer.

THE "Tower," Eden's bi-monthly newspaper, features in each issue an interesting account of the happenings around Eden Central. Supervised by Miss Witzleben and co-edited by Annette Preischel and Judith Wright, the paper includes a message from Mr. Peck, current school and sports news, and columns including "Just Picture" and "Who." The Journalism Club, producer of the paper, meets every Wednesday to prepare for the coming issue. The impatient anticipation for every issue and the eagerness with which it is read from cover to cover proves the enjoyment derived from it by both the grade and high school student body.

DEMOCRACY is the principle upon which the government of the United States is based and it is also the basis upon which our Student Council is run. With the dynamic leadership of Wesley Euler, the Student Council has accomplished much this year. During the basketball season, student council discussed the topic of school spirit. To promote this, lively announcements were made. The council also bought the teams' and cheerleaders' tickets to the Senior Fish Dinner at which the players were honored.

One of the more important projects was the setting up of a detention hall for third-degree offenders. The enforcement department, the monitors, has been looked into and the Council is working to make it operate capably. A special investigating committee and teacher's cooperation combine to help control the monitors while on duty. Any monitor found guilty of disobeying any rule is subject to be tried, not by the Student Court, but by the Student Council itself.

Student Council is continually working for the betterment of the entire school. Those above-mentioned are only a few of the things accomplished this year but more are continually being attained.

OPERETTA — PLAY

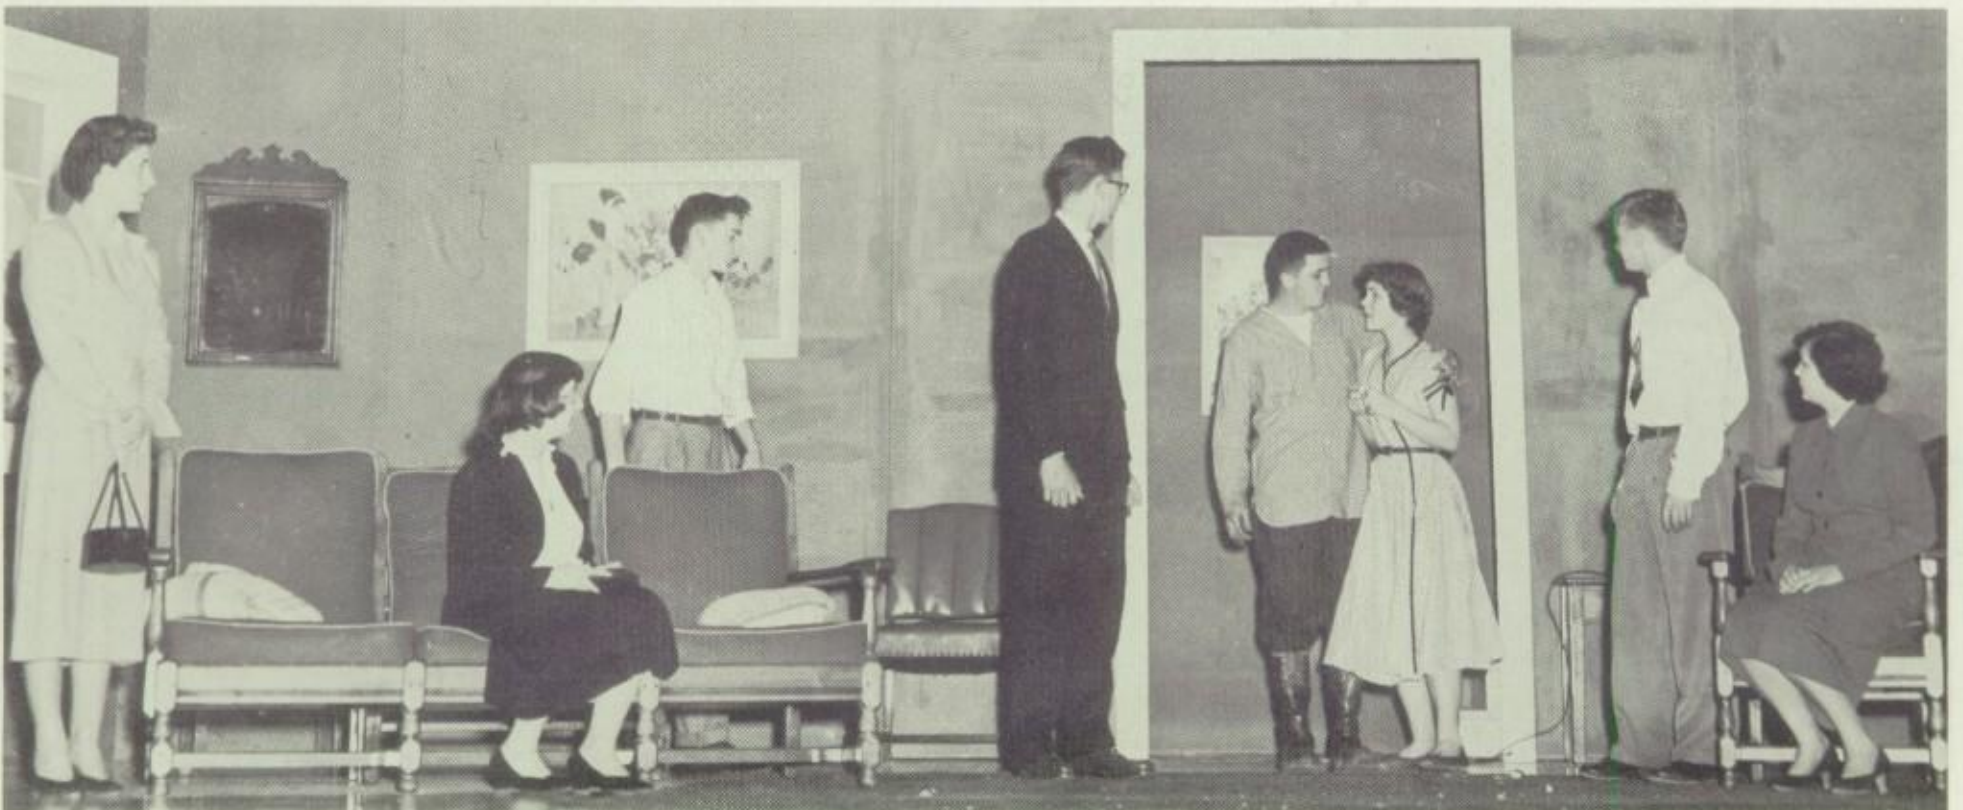

J. Miller, C. DeBoi, C. Phatiger, A. Gingher, N. Cotten, D. Anderson, J. Zulick, C. Ziegelhofer, G. Koepka.

THE combined high school choruses, under the direction of Mrs. Gangi, presented in March, a most enjoyable operetta entitled "Jerry of Jericho Road." This amusing two-act production starred Carol Ziegelhofer as Jerry with John Zulick playing her lover, John Drayton. The participating choruses besides accompanying the operetta with several enjoyable melodies, also added to its contents by performing several unique dances which added to the color of the program. The operetta will provide pleasant memories both for those who attended the finished program and those who worked untiringly to produce it.

OUR Dramatics Club, under the direction of Mr. Lewis Fischer, presented a three-act comedy drama entitled, "Almost Eighteen." The Play centered around Eddie Barry played by Robert Zulick with Cynthia Carpenter and Dallas Mehs as his mother and father. Behind the scenes Student Director, Mary Lou Daurer, Stage Manager, William Heisler and Property and Make-up Girl, Mary Laine Phatiger worked diligently to make the stage scenes a success. The play, presented on December third and fifth, was well received on both evenings. We hope that the cooperative participation of students, making this year's play a success, will provide inspiration for the coming year's Dramatics Club.

FROM November until early March, the gym is constantly ringing with cheers, shouts, and yells of contestants and spectators. The occasions for which such exuberance of school spirit was demonstrated were the Varsity Basketball games. Imbued with an unusually high, fighting spirit, the Raiders racked up high scores in every game. Well coached by Mr. Nelson, the team has demonstrated the expert team cooperation and good sportsmanship for which Eden is noted.

"BATTER up" and the Eden nine were out again, ready to fight for their school's glory. Coached by Mr. Batorski, the team showed strong hitting power as they enthusiastically fought each game to the last out of the ninth inning. Though not a very successful season as the team won 6 and lost 7, the Raiders looked forward to every game with renewed enthusiasm and spirit. Robert Strawbrich's star pitching and the cooperation and teamwork displayed by the entire team increased the fighting spirit with which the Raiders faced each game. Though the team lost Ralph Beyer, Michael Sullivan, John LeFevre and others by graduation, the remainder of the team plus new members entering the field will form a group of nine that will strive as this group did to produce the victorious team for which Eden is noted.

WHAT are the values derived from track? Every aspiring athlete should know that training improves the nervous and muscular control so that coordination of the mind and body approaches the optimum. It also increases efficiency and range of adjustments of the vital organs of the body. The social values derived from participation are of an everlasting value and satisfaction.

The season of 1953 saw the cindermen of Edén Central enjoy a perfect season in dual meets. Besides this distinction, they won the Erie County Interscholastic conference, Division II track championship, and placed fifth in the New York State Physical High School Athletic Association Sectional Meet. Congratulations go to this team for so successful a season.

RECOGNITION and pride are taken in our J.V. Football squad. Though not a winning team, their enthusiasm and sportsmanship displayed at every game, revealed the abilities they contain that will open the doors of success before them. Under their competent coach, Mr. Davis, the team learned the fundamentals necessary to make a victorious Varsity squad.

THE pattern of play in basketball demands speed, skill, and deception. The knowledge and spirit of this pattern, acquired by our J.V. team, under Coach Walsh's supervision, is training them to take over the Varsity program next year and in other years to come. Though fighting was hard in each game, the team was always acknowledged by the opponents as "tops" in fair play and spirit. It is the high standard of sportsmanship that has made this team so popular among other teams as well as the student body.

NEITHER rain nor muddy fields can stop the Eden Cross Country team. Independent of the weather, the Raiders practiced rigidly for each meet in which they participated. As a comparatively new member of our sports program, this sport has become more popular each year. Although defeat reigned over victory, the boys, with Mr. Shepard as coach, displayed unusually high spirit and a high standard of sportsmanship in every race.

THROUGH the 1953-54 football and basketball seasons, spectators at all home games have enjoyed the privilege of watching our twirlers in action. Their smart uniforms and glittering, whirling batons are symbols of the enthusiastic school spirit held in such high esteem at Eden. The twirlers devoted many hours of practice each week to preparing their routines, which besides entertaining the spectators, led the team along the road to victory.

INTRAMURALS

BOYS' VOLLEYBALL

BOYS' BASKETBALL

THE intramural program at Eden Central continues to grow each year in both boys' and girls' activities. Such activities as Soccer, Touch Football, Basketball, Volleyball, Field Hockey, Tennis, and Softball are included in this diversified program. Members of this activity sometimes referee the intramural games. This promotes the learning of the game rules and fair play.

The intramural program is considered to be an integral part of the total educational process of all individuals. It provides experience that will aid in the development and improvement of co-ordination of mind and body.

CHEERLEADERS

D. Looze, Captain, M. Mammoser, C. Thompson, M. Miller, M. Phatiger.

THROUGH the door of athletics one can see the cheerleaders working to perfect cheers and arrange pep assemblies. This promotes good sportsmanship and encourages enthusiasm throughout the student body. This year we were fortunate to have two alternate cheerleaders, Beverly Rothe and Pat Landahl, to lend their services.

The varsity cheerleaders attended a conference at Hamburg where they exchanged ideas on different subjects and decided to apply certain ones to our school. It was through this conference that the cheerleaders learned the real meaning of sportsmanship and enthusiasm.
